

Spotlight on Safety

Health and Safety News For The Princeton Community • Nov. 2022 Special Edition

Thanksgiving Waste Pick-Up Notice

The lab waste vendor will be onsite Tuesday, Nov. 22 instead of the normal Thursday Nov. 24 due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Pick-up requests should be submitted by Nov. 21 at 2 p.m. for pickup on the 22nd. Requests submitted later will not be picked up until Dec. 1.

The Waste Pick-up Request Form can be accessed via ServiceNow or the EHS website. University login is required.

Click the button below to view and fill out the form.

Waste Pick-Up Request Form

Learn more about Research Waste Management at Princeton on the EHS Website.

Supervising for Safety Certificate Program

We are excited to announce a new program from the Office of Environmental Health & Safety. Developed specifically for supervisors and managers across campus, the Supervising for Safety Certificate Program is a 3-session program designed to help those who supervise employees to become proficient leaders for safety.

- Safety Management Fundamentals – reporting and managing workplace injuries, understanding University policy, and understanding the safety regulatory environment.

- Building a Safety Culture – develop examples of how to build or enhance a safety culture in your unit, whether it's a shop, lab, or entire department or division.
- Advanced Safety Management – take safety culture to the next level in order to create a proactive, safety-focused work environment for all.

The program is presented by Kelly States and the first round of sessions take place Dec. 1, 5 and 15th.

Register on the Employee Learning Center

Please join us for this new, highly interactive initiative to help supervisors and managers become safety leaders.

Was this newsletter forwarded to you? Subscribe Here

Contact the editor with any feedback js74@princeton.edu

Princeton University
Environmental Health & Safety

262 Alexander Street
Princeton, NJ 08540
(609) 258-5294

Contact Us

